

Guidelines For ONE SMALL TOWN Supporters

From Michael Tellingner

What to do – What NOT to do

I get many emails every week from very excited people who want to take action, and do something about ONE SMALL TOWN. They all want to know: What can I do? How can I help? Can we bring this to my town? And many more enthusiastic questions.

They want to rush off to the Mayor; set up a town meeting; place ads in papers; go on the radio to tell everyone about OST, and so on. They are hyped up and ready to go. All of this is really encouraging and it will happen – BUT before it does, there are several things that need to happen first.

It's impossible for me to respond personally to hundreds of people every week, wanting to know what to do, about implementing ONE SMALL TOWN. I can only get involved once there is a clear indication from a Mayor, or Community Leader with a keen interest to implement ONE SMALL TOWN. Once that happens, things will start moving at a steady pace.

IMPORTANT: I expect all UBUNTU members and promoters to always be well informed and ready to answer questions from those they engage with. The more you know, the better you can explain the OST plan to others.

Please DO NOT call your Mayor, or set up a meeting or make contact with the media, or the Mayor, or any council members, about the ONE SMALL TOWN plan – until you have been in touch with your local OST Ambassador or Michael Tellingner. We will work with you to develop a strategy to approach your Mayor or Councillor or Community Leader.

We are implementing the OST plan in several towns, in more than one country at present. All our efforts are going into making these a great success. This does not mean that we must stop spreading the message and growing the awareness, and generating interest from other towns and Mayors. So please keep sharing the information.

We are the 99.99% and the planet belongs to its people - Not to corporations and governments that have unlawfully claimed our planet as their property.

We are the ones we have been waiting for. We are creating our own utopian future of abundance and prosperity.

In unity
